Boeing Wichita: Aviation Excellence in Kansas

We employ 13,000+ people — Kansas' largest private employer. We're Boeing's biggest state presence, shaping the future of flight from the heartland.

What We Build

Boeing Wichita creates critical components for the 737, 767, 777 and 787 — from fuselage sections to nose sections, pylons and flight control surfaces.

The facility excels in both metallic and composite manufacturing.

We build essential components for various defense platforms and provide aftermarket services.

Engineers and production teams work as one. Together, they solve complex challenges and deliver precision parts that keep aircraft flying safely worldwide.

How We Build

Our 635-acre campus features 6.28 million square feet of manufacturing space. Smart robotics and automated assembly lines boost our capabilities. Recent digital investments prepare us for tomorrow's aircraft.
